INSTALLATION OF A BURGLAR ALARM

Seymour National Bank Being Equipped with Cannon Ball Two Way Close Circuit System.

ONE OF LATEST INVENTIONS

Bank Will be Absolutely Safeguarded Against Any Attempt at Daylight Robbery.

One of the latest inventions in a bank burglar alarm system is being installed in the Seymour National bank. The alarm is known as the Cannon Ball Two Way Close Circuit System and besides giving a night alarm, it is arranged so that it can be set off by a number of push buttons concealed about the banking rooms in case an attempt is made to rob the bank during business hours. The system is being installed by L. C. Glenman, a representative of the firm that manufactures the alarm device and is one of the first in this section of Indiana.

The large bell alarm will be placed on the front of the bank building and when rung sounds a warning similar to that of a fire bell and can be heard within a radius of several blocks. The safety vault is equipped with a time clock which can be set to operate the system in case the doors to the vault are tampered with after they have been closed at the end of the day's business.

One of the most important features of the new system is that the desks of all bank employees are equipped with a concealed push button which will operate the alarm. By this method the alarm can be sounded by pressing the button with the foot in case the employees were covered with guns and ordered to throw up their hands.

Considering the fact that the bank is located just across the street from the fire department and police station the bank officials feel that the new system affords them absolutely a safeguard against any attempt at robbery that might be made night or day. Through the two way close circuit system it is impossible to cut the wires used in operating the system without sounding the alarm. The new system will be ready for operation some time Thursday.

SURRENDER OF KAISER REFUSED IN PROPOSALS

Counter Proffers by German Delegates Agree to Limitation of The Army.

Berlin, May 28.—The German counter proposals to the peace treaty as made public here today refused to surrender the kaiser and demand immediate admission of Germany to the league of nations with a mandate over her former colonies. The counter proposals agree to the limitation of the German army to 100,000 men and offer to disarm the large German naval vessels, thought insisting on returning of some commercial vessels.

They further assert that no changes in German territorial limits should be made without plebiscites in the territories affected. Such plebiscites are asked especially in Upper Silesia, East Prussia, West Prussia, Memel and Danzig. The Germans agree that Danzig shall be a free port with the river on which Danzig is situated internationalized.

It is asked that the entente withdraw from occupied territories within four months. Willingness to reimburse, especially France and Belgium, for damages during the war is expressed. The counter proposals state that Germany is willing to pay approximately five billion dollars by 1926 and an annual sum thereafter, but that the total they will pay must not exceed twenty-five billion dollars.

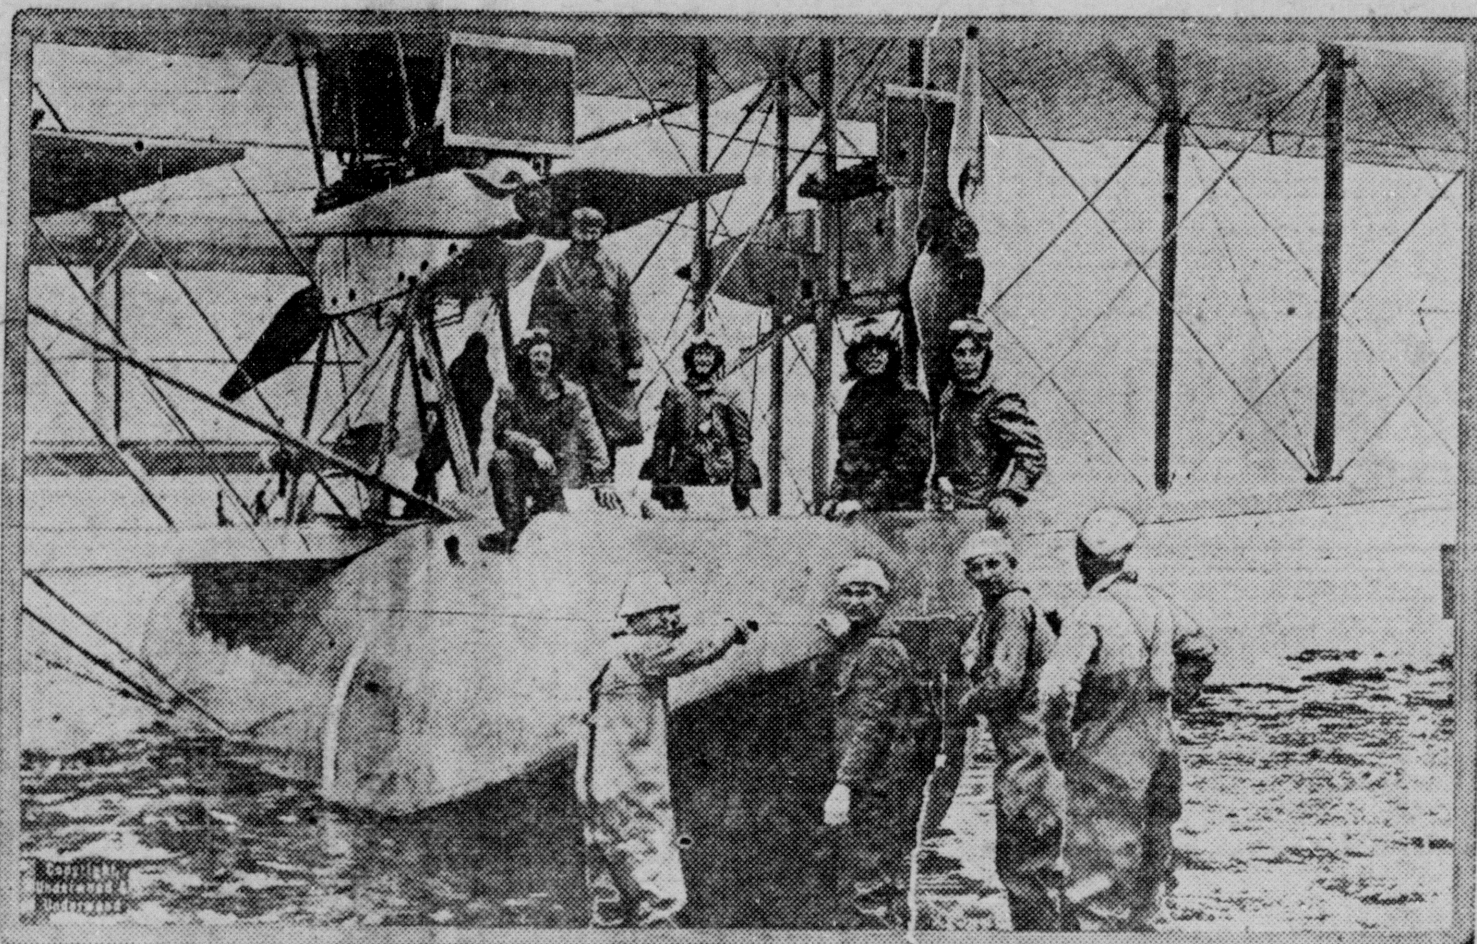

Regarding the kaiser and others held responsible by the allies, the counter proposals suggest reciprocal trials of persons accused on both sides. A mutual reparations commission with a neutral president is proposed to decide specific cases and disputes. The Germans ask the right to resume overseas trade, to possess a merchant marine, and that Germany be permitted to tax fortunes which have been removed to other lands.

Mrs. Margaret Baker and children Mary Alberta and Wyant who have been visiting relatives in this city, left this morning for their home in Vincennes. Mrs. Baker formerly lived in this city.

Mrs. R. C. Miller went to Mitchell this morning to meet her mother, Mrs. T. C. Metcalfe, who is returning from a visit with relatives in Dale.

AVIATORS READY FOR LAST HOP OFF

Commander Read and Party Reaches Lisbon Where They Are Given a Great Ovation.

WILL FLY TO PLYMOUTH

Flight From the Azores Was Smooth and Uneventful—Congratulations Wirelessly.

Lisbon, May 28.—The Americans who flew across the Atlantic were ready today for the hop of more than 700 miles to Plymouth, England. This jump will complete their historic air voyage, which started from Rockaway Beach, New York.

Lieutenant Commander A. C. Read, first man successfully to navigate the air lanes all the way across the sea, was up and about early this morning, looking over the prospects of getting away for England at once. Much depended on the condition of the weather and the motors. The NC-4 swept over Lisbon shortly after four o'clock last evening, New York time, after a nearly perfect trip from Ponta Delgada, Azores. It settled gracefully in the river beside the American warships Rochester. The event, marking an epoch in the annals of aviation, was hailed by a bedlam of whistles and bells from the city and the ships in the stream. Throngs of people were massed on house tops and in the streets to hail the American conquerors of the air as they appeared in the sky. Guns were fired to add to the din.

Small boats darted out from the shore, filled with excited Portuguese and clustered around the NC-4 as it rested in the water after its 300 mile jaunt.

The flight from the Azores was smooth and uneventful, according to members of the crew. Soon after their arrival, Read and his men received formal congratulations from the Portuguese government officials. Wireless congratulations were also received from Admiral Jackson and Captain Wortman at the Azores, and from many other officials in the United States and elsewhere. A celebration in honor of the intrepid Americans began last night.

CORPORATION TAX FIGURES BOOSTED

Valuations, Exclusive of Public Utilities Are Increased More Than Three Fold.

Indianapolis, May 28.—Public service corporation tax valuations in Indiana have been increased nearly three fold by the state board of tax commissioners operating under the new law requiring one hundred per valuation, it was disclosed by the board today.

The board's statement and the figures accompanying it are the first definite statements of assessments. They show a greater increase than was expected. The figures made public cover the assessment of railroad-interurbans, pipe line companies, telephone properties, express company properties, telegraph lines and transportation companies. They cover all concerns assessed last year by the tax board but do not include banks, trust companies and public utilities. The total assessment of the property covered by the figures was $816,003,525, as compared to $295,004,757 for the same property last year. The tax commissioners were in session all last week making these assessments.

RUST APPEARS IN FEW WHEAT FIELDS

Damage Said To Be Serious in Some Localities But Is Not Believed to be General in County.

WEATHER IS MORE FAVORABLE

Ground Drying Out Rapidly and Corn Planting Is In Full Swing—Oats Prospects Good.

Although reports have been received that a black rust has appeared in some wheat fields in Jackson county, inquiry leads to the belief that the blight is localized and that the damage is not general. Willard Kendall brought in some stalks of wheat from the Leblane farm, Rockford, which were covered with the rust. He said that it was spreading and the farmers in Redding township were fearful that the damage might be extensive. A report has also been received from Hamilton township that the rust has appeared in one or two fields in that vicinity. Investigation, however, shows that the rust is not general throughout the county, appearing for the most part in the low fields. Practically no rust is reported from fields on the clay.

It is confident belief of the farmers that the bright, warm weather this week will check the blight and that the fields that have escaped so far will produce big yields. The cold weather recently retarded the growth of the wheat and caused

FINE REPORT MADE BY THRIFT CLUBS

$33,656 in Liberty Bonds and Savings Stamps Held by 810 Pupils of City Schools.

SYSTEMATIC SAVING PLAN

Societies Organized Two Years Ago Have Done Much to Encourage the Habit of Thrift.

Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps to the amount of $33,656 are owned by 810 pupils in the city schools who are members of the thrift clubs, according to figures which were announced this afternoon by T. A. Mott, superintendent. The clubs were organized two years ago to promote the practice of systematic saving among the pupils. The report made public by Superintendent Mott shows a surprisingly large amount and is much greater than the average citizen imagined the school children were saving.

The Liberty bonds and War Savings stamps do not represent all the savings of the members of the clubs as many of them are carrying building and loan shares, savings bank accounts and insurance policies which are not included in the figures.

The clubs were organized two years ago. One was effected in each grade in the elementary schools and by groups in the high school. The teachers give special attention to the subject of thrift and encourage the pupils to form the habit of saving a certain amount of their earnings each week or month. The pupils have shown great interest in the movement as is indicated by the report.

Some of the pupils who have shown agricultural tendencies have invested their savings in rentals for lots so that they could maintain their own gardens. In such cases the amount of the savings are difficult to determine and the pupils usually make a small profit on their investments. The superintendent is

FIUME QUESTION WILL BE INCLUDED

Italian Boundary Matters to Be Included in the Austrian Treaty of Peace.

REPARATIONS NOT SETTLED

Turkish Terms Will Not Be Contained in Document as Originally Drawn.

Paris, May 28.—The question of Fiume and other boundary matters affecting Italy will be included in the peace treaty which will be handed to the Austrian delegates at St. Germain, it was learned today. It was also learned the treaty will not contain detailed provisions regarding reparations, owing to the difficulty of apportioning Austria's debt among the nations which formerly made up the dual monarchy.

The Fiume situation which recently nearly caused a split in the peace conference will be reserved for future settlement by the big four. By this means the allies will be enabled to go ahead and terminate terms without danger of Italy raising last minute objections, it is pointed out.

Difficulty has been experienced, according to available information in allocating the Austrian reparations among the new nationalities which have gained recognition since the armistice. Instead of Germany and Austria as they now exist, paying the entire bill, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and other new countries will have to pay a portion because their peoples were part of the enemy nations when the debt was rolled up. Financial experts found this system necessary in order to maintain the world's equilibrium during the breaking up of central Europe.

Turkish terms will not be included in the treaty as at present drawn. While interest is increasing in the Austrian treaty, the presentation of the German counter-proposals is eagerly awaited. These are nearly ready to be handed over. These proposals, as stated in an exclusive United Press dispatch from Berlin, ask that Germany be admitted to the league of nations as a prime requisite of peace.

Admiral Kolchak's anti-Bolshevik government at Omek will not be recognized by the United States until that country learns more about him, it was stated authoritatively. This is the American attitude, no matter what Britain and France decide to do. Reports have been received that Kolchak's army is retreating along the entire front.

securing the amount of the savings collected only figures on Liberty bonds and War savings stamps.

On the day that the reports were gathered 755 pupils of the elementary schools were present at the classes and 483 of them were affiliated with the thrift clubs. This represents sixty-four per cent. of the total number. These had invested $11,746 in government securities. In the high school 341 reported and 327 or ninety-five per cent. belonged to the clubs. They had invested a total of $21,910. The percentage was higher in the high school probably due to the greater earning capacity of the students and their desire to save money for college training.

Of the 1,096 in the schools reporting, 810 were thrift club members, a percentage of seventy-three.

One year ago the report of the pupils systematically showed 424 out of 1,075 reported, a percentage of thirty-nine. The report this year shows a remarkable gain and indicates the increasing interest in the thrift campaign.

Centenary celebration at Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13, in the Lowell Thomas travelogue, "With Allenby in Palestine." For, in this talk, illustrated by amazing moving pictures and still photographs, the first authentic eye-witness account by a fully accredited observer of this dashing campaign will be given.

They show the great military operation from its beginning to its end, when the Turk had been driven out of the Holy Land and Allenby stood astride the Berlin-Bagdad railroad at Aleppo, ending the Mittel Europa scheme of the kaiser and the pan-Germans forever.

But they show more than that. They show all the sacred places of which Christians have heard since their childhood. They show how the places look today and how the people of Palestine are actually living. They show almost everything that one would care to see or know of Palestine—certainly more than any ordinary traveler could see in half a dozen visits to that country.

These travelogues have obtained the unanimous indorsement of the clergy of New York city. They will appear at Columbus during the entire time of the great Methodist celebration.

Experiences in France.

Cpl. Clarence Dixon, rural route 2, Seymour, has prepared the following account of his experiences in France as a member of the 256 Co., 128 battalion:

On October 5, 1918, I left Camp Mills, Long Island, and arrived at Hoboken, N. J. There we took a steamer on the 6th and sailed out into the harbor where we remained for a couple of hours before starting on our way across. The first day out most of us became sea sick but overcame this after six days out. We were thirteen days in crossing the ocean and the last night we sighted a submarine. Some depth bombs were dropped and everyone thought we had been hit. Our company was on the lower deck and there was a scramble among the men. Life boats and rafts were lowered and everyone was ready to go overboard but we learned that the explosions were only from the depth bombs. On the morning of October 27 we went into port and everyone was happy to see land again. We landed at Liverpool England, and on the evening of the 27th we were unloaded and took a train to our camp. We remained there three days and then went to Manchester and later crossed the channel. We had a rough trip in a wooden ship. On the 28th we arrived in LaHarve and went into a rest camp until the 30th. We then went to Gorges. We stayed there about three weeks and took a train for LeMans which was our first ride in box cars. The cars were marked to be large enough for eight horses and forty men. After we arrived in LeMans our company was broken up and scattered over France. I remained there thirteen days and took a truck to Oiza. We were there five days and then went to a rifle range for instruction. An M. P. company was organized there and I was made one of the police. On December 26th we left for Mayenne for police duty among the 92nd Division. On February 3rd we left for Conlie in trucks amid a heavy rain and snow storm. On February 5th we were sent for duty to LaMillesse where the 85th was located. On March 15th we left there and came back to Conlie and we are here expecting to go home any time. Some day we are going to surprise the folks at home and come in when they are not expecting us.

Yours

Clarence.

damage in some places. A. E. Murphy, county agricultural agent, has made an inspection of the county and reports that up to this time the fields have escaped the "Australian take all," the new disease reported in some middle west states. The disease has appeared in a few surrounding counties, but as yet is not serious. Some Jackson county farmers hold the opinion that the unhealthy appearance of the wheat in some localities is due to the unfavorable spring weather. The farmers are more encouraged over the prospects than they have been for several weeks. The ground is drying out rapidly under the bright, warm sunlight and corn planting which was delayed for several weeks is progressing in all sections. The farmers believe that if they get their corn planted during the early part of June it will have sufficient time to mature before cold weather, unless the fall this year should be exceptionally early. The farmers in many sections are planting a ninety-day corn and do not believe that the delay will affect the county's yield materially.

The oats fields also show a greatly improved appearance during the week. The weather has been favorable for this crop and the fields have made noticeable progress.

The wheat is heading out in fine shape, the farmers declare, and it is expected that the harvest season will arrive at the usual time. The local buyers are expecting to receive the first of the new wheat crop about the first of July and the Blish Mills are planning to begin grinding the new wheat about the middle of July.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dixon, of Malver, Ark., who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dixon, left this morning for their home.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the Motorist

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana), as a public servant, interprets its obligation to the 2,000,000 motorists in the territory it serves as reaching beyond simply supplying them with gasoline and lubricating oils.

The Company feels that it falls short of its full duty, if in the manufacture of gasoline and lubricating oils the elements of economy, efficiency, dependability, and protection are not inherent in every gallon.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) requires of its products, that, in addition to furnishing dependable power and lubrication the car investment of the motorist must be protected—his repair bills must be minimized—the life of the car must be prolonged.

Every frictional surface must be conserved. The engine must respond instantly in emergencies. The motorist must get every possible mile out of every gallon of Standard Oil gasoline which he buys.

To make these products as available to the 5-gallon buyer as to the 500- or 5000-gallon buyer, the Company maintains 1300 service stations conveniently located throughout the territory.

The Company realizes that its interests and those of the motorist are a unit—tangible and concrete.

Intelligent self-interest impels the Company to safeguard every product it manufactures and distributes that it may at all times give to the motorist the utmost of value and service.

How We Acquired the Lease

The company owns a lease that is very valuable and one that would no doubt bring a substantial sum on the open market today. This lease was acquired through Major C. L. Wayman, in substantially the following manner:

Maj. Wayman was stationed at Camp Knox, and had his top Sergeant, Donald Earll, son of the man who owned the farm upon which we have a lease. After being discharged from the service Sgt. Earll returned home and learned that it was possible to get the lease. Thereupon he corresponded with Major Wayman, knowing of his connections, with a view to getting his assistance in developing the property. Major Wayman then took the matter up with some of his friends, as a result of which a representative was sent to see Sgt. Earll and his father, which resulted in acquiring the lease. Since acquiring the lease a company has been organized and plans made to develop the property.

The successful termination of those plans necessitates the raising of sufficient capital to drill the first well. The list of names of some of our stockholders on the opposite side of this page will show you how those plans are progressing. If you join as you are joining a number of local people in the best speculation in mid-continent oil field today.

PROHIBITION TO BRING COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE

Why not turn the corner saloon into a community playhouse when the law effects the closing of these gathering places, asks Miss Hazel MacKaye, director of the Department of Pageantry and Drama of the National Young Women's Christian Association?

"I went over on the West Side of New York one night recently to attend a community drama meeting," Miss MacKaye says in explaining her theory, "and as I was riding along I noticed how many saloons there were—one on every corner and another in the middle of the block, it seemed, all just blazing with lights. Those lights ought not to go out with prohibition. They ought to shine for something worth while to all of the people, and what better than community drama and sings?"

Miss MacKaye feels that the war has given a great impetus to popular interest in drama and that through pageantry and drama a great deal in the way of Americanization can be effected.

Through the community center, if it be in a district populated largely of one foreign nationality, these people could present pageants of the life in their mother countries, translating them into English, so that Americans and also the younger English speaking members of their household could understand and appreciate their traditions. American art would be greatly enriched thus through the drama of all of the nations whose peoples have settled in this country. "On the other hand American ideals, American history and American festivals, even laws such as child labor and minimum wage, could be interpreted to these people by means of pageantry.

"People have been learning not only to work together, but to play together," Miss MacKaye says, "particularly since the war, when the people stood together in drives and large patriotic community entertainments. The opportunity to build up a great community organization is now at hand, and the time is ripe for it. Why not utilize the corner saloon?"

Y. W. C. A. UNIFORMS TO CLOTHE STUDENTS

Suits Worn by War Workers Will Be Given to Penniless Students in Switzerland.

Official uniforms of the Young Women's Christian Association minus the Blue Triangle, the Association insignia, will be worn next winter by women students who have been stranded in Switzerland during the war and who, because of lack of funds, inability to re-enter their native country, a desire to finish their university courses or because they have no family to which to return, will remain there next year.

Elizabeth M. Clark, who has been in Switzerland for ten years under the World Student Christian Federation, has appealed to the National Student Committee of the Y. W. C. A. for clothing for the 300 foreign women students in Switzerland. The scarcity of clothing last year among these almost refugee students made it necessary for two girls to share one coat so that only one could go to classes or go out of doors at a time.

Four large packing cases of all kinds of used clothing, save hats, which is in good condition, have been collected hastily from women college students in the New England States, Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware by the Student Committee of the National Y. W. C. A. to be sent over in response to Miss Clark's appeal. This clothing will be dyed, cleaned and made over in Switzerland.

In addition to the clothing collected from students in colleges nearest New York a case of uniforms, which have been turned in by Y. W. C. A. secretaries who did war work, and the official gray uniform ulsters is being sent. As uniforms are being turned in by war workers they will be claimed by the Student Committee, which will remove the insignia and prepare the uniforms so that they may be worn by these women who have been forced by world events to remain in Switzerland for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Livensparger and two children, left this morning for an extended visit with relatives in Ohio.

Mrs. J. H. McFarridge left this morning for her home in St. Louis, Mo., after spending several days with relatives here.

Many of them make the trip in the motor bus which leaves shortly after 8 o'clock. This morning, however, the traffic was so heavy that all the passengers could not find room in the bus. Additional automobile service was later furnished to take care of those who desired to make the trip and could not find accommodations in the bus.

GERMANY WILL DENY RESPONSIBILITY FOR WAR

Counter Proposals will Accept Responsibility for Damages in Northern France.

Basle, May 28.—The German counter proposals will deny German responsibility for the war, according to a dispatch received here today from Berlin. These advices said the German note accepts responsibility for damage in northern France and Belgium because of the violation of Belgian neutrality, not because Germany alone was responsible for starting hostilities.

The note also it was reported, declares President Wilson promised the German people would not be held responsible for acts of their irresponsible rulers. It protests the secrecy of the report of the allied commission on responsibilities for the war.

dealing with disease. He mentioned the great strides that have been made by the medical profession in effecting cures for many ailments which a few years ago were regarded as incurable.

Dr. C. W. Saleeby, of London, also a member of the prohibition party, was introduced to the Fourth district physicians. He devoted his address to the destruction that is caused by radical poisons, among which is alcohol. He told how the prohibition question was handled in Europe through the activity of the prohibition forces.

The usual program was given by the Fourth district physicians. Papers were read and discussions then followed. Participating in the discussions were: Drs. G. G. Graessle, of Seymour, J. D. Cummins, Browns town, and J. M. Jenkins, Cortland Dr. E. J. Libbert, of Aurora, president of the society, presided. About seventy-five physicians, many of them accompanied by their wives, were in attendance.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER FROM CATARRH

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing difficult breathing and other discomforts. Real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs. This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface.

To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which completely routs from your blood the Catarrh germs, for which it is a perfect antidote.

If you wish medical advice as to the treatment of your own individual case, write to Chief Medical Adviser, 42 Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

CHAPTER VI.

The Mysterious Sail.

Where I leaned alone against the rail my eyes followed the Spaniard in doubt and questioning, nor could I entirely banish from mind Haley's description of that buccaneer bearing a similar name. Yet, in spite of my unconscious desire to connect these two together, I found it simply impossible to associate this rather soft-spoken, effeminate dandy with that bloody villain.

It was already quite dusk when we finally drew in beside Travers' wharf and made fast. Our approach had been noted and Travers himself—a white-haired, white-bearded man, yet still hearty and vigorous, attired in white duck—was on the end of the dock to greet us, together with numerous servants of every shade of color, who immediately busied themselves toting luggage up the steep path leading toward the house, standing conspicuous amid a grove of trees on the summit of the bank. The others followed, four fellows jugging with difficulty an iron-bound chest, the two older men engaged in earnest conversation, thus leaving Sanchez apparently well satisfied with the opportunity alone to assist the girl.

Except to render the sloop completely secure for the night, there remained little work for us to perform on board. The four of us passed the early evening undisturbed smoking and talking together. So the time passed quickly, and it must have been nearly midnight before we brought out blankets from the forecabin and lay down in any spot we chose on deck.

It was a fair, calm night, but moonless, with but little wind stirring, and a slight haze in the air, obscuring the vision. The others must have fallen asleep immediately. At last, despairing of slumber, and perchance urged by some premonition of danger, I arose to my feet and moved silently aft.

My startled eyes caught a glimpse of a speck of white emerging from the black shadows—the spectral glimmer of a small sail. The strange craft swept past, so far out that those on board no doubt believed themselves beyond sight from the shore, heading apparently for a point of land, which I vaguely remembered as jutting out to the northward.

CHAPTER VII.

The Lieutenant Unmasked.

Where the craft could be bound; for what secret purpose it was afloat; who were aboard, were but so many unanswered questions arising in my mind. Where could it have come from, unless from that strange Dutch bark? If it really came from the Namur of Rotterdam had it been sent in answer to some signal by Sanchez? I could think of nothing else. I determined to assure myself as to the identity of these strangers. If they had actually landed it would require only a few moments to ascertain the truth. The distance proved somewhat greater than anticipated, because of the deep curve in the shore and I had nearly reached the conclusion that the boat must have rounded the point and gone on when suddenly I was brought to a halt by a voice speaking in Spanish—one of those harsh croaking voices never to be reduced to a whisper.

"Not the spot Manuel? Of course it is; do you not suppose I know? This is the place and now there is nothing to do but wait. The senior—he will be here presently."

"Ay, unless you misread the signal," a somewhat more discreet but piping voice replied doubtfully. "I saw nothing of all you tell about, Estada."

The two men went on to discuss plans evidently communicated to Estada by Sanchez from England. I was about to creep nearer, when a newcomer moved past me scarcely a yard distant, along the narrow strip of sand. Directly opposite my covert he paused.

"Estada," He spoke the name cautiously.

"Ay, captain," and another figure emerged noiselessly from the gloom. "We await you."

"Good. I rather questioned if you caught my signal. I was watched and obliged to exercise care. How many have you here?"

"Four, senior, with Manuel Estevan."

"Quite sufficient. How is it here? Are there suspicions?"

"None, senior. We have cruised outside most of the time. There is no warships in these waters. You said you were being watched on the sloop. Are you known?"

"A dog of a servant who came over with us—one of Monmouth's brood. The fellow watches me like a hawk. We had some words aboard and there is hate between us."

"May I ask your plans, senior?"

"Yes, I am here to explain. This planter, Fairfax, has returned from England with a large sum. It is in gold and notes. It represents the proceeds of the tobacco crop of himself and a number of his neighbors. Without doubt it will be upward of fifty thousand pounds. This still remains in his possession, but a part will be dispersed tomorrow; so if we hope to gain the whole we must do so now. Everything is ready, and there is not the slightest suspicion of danger—not even a guard set over the treasure."

"Then it is at the house?"

"In an iron-bound chest, in the room assigned to Fairfax for the night. Only two servants sleep in the main house, the cook and a maid, both women. Fairfax is vigorous and will put up a fight if he has any chance. He must be taken care of before he does have any. Travers is an old man, to be knocked out with a blow. All we have to fear are those fellows on the sloop, and they will have to be attended to quietly without any alarm reaching the house. I am going to leave that job to you—it's not your first."

"The old sea orders, captain?"

"Ay, that will be quicker and surer." The voice hardened to sudden ferocity. "But, mark you, with one exception—the Englishman is not to be killed, if he can be taken alive. I would deal with him."

"Then after that," Sanchez went on deliberately, as though murder was of small account, "you will follow me up the bluff. Who are the others with you?"

"Carl Anderson, Pedro Mendez and Cochose."

"Well chosen; Mendez is the least valuable, and we will leave him with the prisoner at the boat. The big negro, Cochose, together with Manuel, can attend to Travers and the two negroes—they sleep below. That will leave you and the Swede to get the chest. No firearms if they can be avoided. I have been over the house and drawn a diagram. You can look it over in the cabin of the sloop. The stairs lead up from the front hall. I will go with you to the door of Fairfax's room."

"And you, senior—the girl?"

"What know you of any girl?"

"That there was one on the deck of the sloop—an English beauty. It was when you turned to greet her that you gave me the signal. I merely thought that perhaps—"

"Then stop thinking," burst forth Sanchez enraged. "Thinking has nothing to do with your work. If there is a girl I attend to her. Let that suffice. Dios! am I chief here, or are you? You have my orders; now obey them and hold your tongue. Bring the men up here."

The little band of men emerged from the concealment of the fog noiselessly. I could distinguish no faces, scarcely indeed the outlines of their separate forms in the gloom, but one was an unusually big fellow—Cochose.

"Lads," he said incisively, a sharper note of leadership in the tone. "It has been a bit quiet for you lately; but now I am back again, and we'll try our luck at sea once more."

There was a savage growl of response, a sudden leaning forward of dark figures.

"We'll begin on a job tonight. There are fifty thousand pounds for us in that house yonder, and I waive my share. Estada will explain to you the work I want done. By daylight we shall be on blue water, with our course set for Porto Grande. How is it, bulies, do you sniff at the salt sea?"

"Ay, ay, captain."

"And see the pretty girls waiting—and hear the chink of gold?"

"Ay, senior."

"Then do not fail me tonight—and remember it is to be the knife. Estada, I have forgotten one thing—scuttle the sloop before joining me. 'Tis better to make all safe; and now, strong arms, and good luck. Go to your task, and if one fails me it will mean the lash at the mast-head."

They moved off one by one, Estada leading, along the narrow strip of sand, five of them, on their mission of murder. The leader remained alone, his back toward where I crouched, his eyes following their vanishing figures until the night had swallowed them. (TO BE CONTINUED)

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Seymour who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Seymour man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Seymour resident can doubt.

Louis Scheurich, 317 W. Oak St., says: "I suffered from pain across the small of my back, accompanied by weakness, which affected me so badly I could hardly get about. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did. They cured the attack."

MORE THAN FIVE YEARS LATER, Mr. Scheurich said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney complaint—I take a box of Doan's occasionally, however and they keep my kidneys in good condition."

FOLKS are a heap like tobacco. Thar's hot-headed, bitey folks. Thar's flat, uninterestin' folks. An' then thar's folks like Velvet—mild, but hearty an' fren'ly, too.

"Friendly" is a very good word to describe the positively pleasing quality that sets VELVET tobacco apart.

There is that indescribable something about VELVET that is associated in men's minds with the thought of a friend.

It is a satisfying smoke—never harsh; without a bite. Like a friend it "agrees" with you no matter how much you use it.

Long, patient ageing—in wooden hogsheads—does it. Friendship must ripen slowly. Good tobacco the same way. An army of men have learned this through VELVET.

Today is a good time to get a lot of comfort out of a pipeful of friendly VELVET.
